U.S. Rubber Recycling, Inc. conforms to the following product recycled content:

ClearSight™ Vegetation Control Rolled Matting System is a tire-derived product containing 94.98% postconsumer recycled California tire rubber diverted from California landfills.

This self-declared material ingredient inventory was gathered by and calculated by U.S. Rubber Recycling, Inc. This is in accordance with ISO 17050-1: 2004 General Requirements for a Conformity Assessment and ISO 17067: 2013. All raw materials were inventories to 100 ppm (.01%) and then the recycled content was calculated from that inventory. This product does not use post-industrial recycled content. To comply with these above standards and requirements, the manufacturer certifies to the best of its knowledge that it manufactures its product(s) with quality controls that ensure a consistent amount of recycled content from batch to batch of the above referenced product.
